

About Us

Entech is a specialised environmental services company with a focus on environmental chemistry and waste management. Entech consists of a team of highly skilled environmental scientists and chemists with extensive experience in the environmental and waste management sectors.

The range of services provided is based around the following broad areas:

- Environmental and chemical consulting and project management
- Waste Management Consulting, Training & Auditing

- Waste Tracking IT Systems
- Hazardous waste and contaminated soil treatment

Entech's mission is to develop unique solutions to our clients environmental and waste management problems.